Where are we going?

World Servants first came to Jellico in June of 2000. Over the past few years, our partnership with Good Soil Ministries and the Woodland Community Organization has grown and is now key to our work in Tennessee today. Together we are working to meet the needs of this community.

Located between Knoxville, TN and Lexington, KY, Jellico is part of the Appalachian Mountain range. The scenery is breathtaking and people are very friendly. It's native inhabitants represented a variety of Native American tribal groups. Tennesseans have a passion for the outdoors and love for music, especially fiddles and other stringed instruments, speak of their early European roots even to this day.

Today, Jellico has a population of approximately 2,400. During its 'boom days' until the 1960's, when coal was king, the population was over 10,000. Times have changed, sixty percent of its current citizens are on government assistance, the schools are struggling with resources and employment is a problem.

What are we doing?

Teams will work alongside the community; improving living conditions and opening doors to share Jesus. The majority of the mission week will be spent on home renovation projects. Most of the homes we encounter are in disrepair and will benefit from the work of loving hearts and hands. Projects can include roofing, installation of vinyl siding, windows and doors, constructing a wheel chair ramp to give an elderly person easy access to their home, building a deck, painting and general clean up around the property.

You will learn about the Appalachian culture with its strong emphasis on family values. By participating in outreach events, Kids' Club (VBS), Mega Sports camp, and community outreach cookouts, you'll build relationships as you interact with the people in the community.

Food, Lodging, and Travel

Participants are expected to provide transportation to and from the mission site, as well as travel between the housing site, work projects, outreach activities and the day-off event.

The team will stay at the Clear Fork Community Center or Good Soil Church; facilities are set up with separate rooms for women and men. Showers and restroom facilities are available. Electricity and hot water are available. Meals are prepared by local cooks.

On the day-off, teams have several options available, both free and fee-based activities, which include the local water park, train rides, whitewater rafting, canoeing or time spent at a state park.

Is it safe?

Trip safety is extremely important to World Servants and our host community. Tennessee is considered very safe and we do not anticipate any safety issues. Be assured, World Servants will not hesitate to cancel or suspend a trip if appropriate.

Questions?

Please feel free to contact Stephanie Boyd, World Servants' Director of Appalachia, at sboyd@worldservants.org or call 304-677-9681, if you have any questions.

World Servants is a worldwide, interdenominational organization. For almost 30 years, we have sent people to communities around the globe to be learners, servants, and storytellers open to the works and teachings that God has prepared. Mission participants are challenged and developed through learner-driven cross-cultural training and dynamic short-term mission projects. These projects have a long-term impact both on volunteer participants and local communities while assisting these communities to become self-sustaining and interdependent. Our hope is participants will be inspired to continue to serve people in need upon their return home. We believe as people develop as servants and leaders, they implement servant hood into all areas of life: business, family, community, congregations, government, and international relationships.
